

Summer Term

(02nd May until 25th July 2010)

Career orientation week with visits to factories/works
The human face – clay modelling epoch
The shared origins of the 3 monotheistic world religions
(Religious scholar)
Genetic engineering and life science
Rudolf Steiner's biography
Phenomena of globalization in the light of Social Threefolding
Geology – the history of the earth
How to discover what is "living" using the plant as an example
Students give seminars on natural science themes
A week in the Vosges area (Oberlin house)
Geological and botanical walk
Facing the question of evil - Mephisto and Faust

Autumn Term

(19th September until 12th December 2010)

Empathy and Dialogue – days for creative social practice
Career orientation week with visits to factories/works
Media: competences and risks
Human development and art history
Students give seminars on art, religion and philosophy
Study trip to Dornach (Switzerland) including a drawing course
Approaches for a socially acceptable economics
Zoology and the study of the "being" of the animals
The evolution of mankind
Modern myths
The central questions of Christianity

Spring Term

(16th January until 10th April 2011)

Introduction into Modern Art and the art of "new seeing"
Parallel to a painting course
Career orientation week with visits to factories/works
The Elements and Metals – phenomenological chemistry
Thinking and perceiving – Gates to the world
Aspects of evil in our apocalyptic time
Current events and global developments
Building and renovating week at the youth seminar
Laws of the human biography
Education and self-education
Projective geometrics

various experts introduce their initiatives and professions
Silvia Vereeck (Sculptress)
Dr. Bruno Sandkühler

Dr. Christoph Hueck (Biologist)
Dietrich Esterl (Educator)
Ulrich Morgenthaler (Social Supervision)
Wolfgang Tittmann (Geologist)
J.-Michel Florin (Eco-biologist)

Marco Bindelli (Leader of the seminar)
Dr. Hans Paul Fiechter (Germanist and Publisher)

Thomas Glocker (Management consultant)
various experts introduce their initiatives and professions
Uwe Buermann (Teacher)
Marco Bindelli & Sebastian Knust

Marco Bindelli & Laurence Rogez
Christian Czesla (Tax & Management Consultant)
Wolfgang Tittmann (Natural scientist)
Christel Bruhn-Knackmuss (Biologist)
Andreas Neider (Agentur von Mensch zu Mensch)
Ingo Möller (Priest)

Laurence Rogez (Artist)

various experts introduce their initiatives and professions
Wolfgang Tittmann (Chemist)
Marco Bindelli (Leader of the seminar) & Curro Cachinero
Mechthild Oltmann (Priest)
Dr. Markus Osterrieder (Historian)

Sibylle Engstrom
Dietrich Esterl (Educator)
Georg Glöckler (Mathematic)

College and permanent staff

Lisa Krammer: Theatre educator
Dietlinde Hattori: Educator, Eurythmist and Eurythmy Therapist
Marco Bindelli: Musician (Orchestra, ensembles, choirmaster)
Max Strecker: Bothmergymnast
Cornelia Czesla: Secretary
Florian Kleszczewski: Building services

Leader of the seminar: Marco Bindelli

Freies Jugendseminar Stuttgart / Youth Seminar Stuttgart
Ameisenbergstraße 44
D-70188 Stuttgart
Telefon 00 49 (0)7 11-26 19 56
Fax 00 49 (0)7 11-1 20 99 10

www.jugendseminar.de
info@jugendseminar.de

The Association: "Seminar für interkulturelle Jugendbegegnung e. V." gives the Seminar its' legal structure, and allows donors and friends to support it financially. The "Freie Jugendseminar Stuttgart" is a member of the DPWV (Deutscher Paritätischer Wohlfahrtsverband) and recognised by the town of Stuttgart as a supporter of independent youth aid "Träger Freier Jugendhilfe".
Donations are tax exempt.

Seminar für interkulturelle Jugendbegegnung
Commerzbank Stuttgart
IBAN: DE21 6004 0071 0770 2459 00
BIC: COBADEFFXXX

Freies Jugendseminar
Stuttgart

2010 / 2011

What questions are you facing today at the start of a new chapter in your life?

... for finding your profession in the midst of rapid social changes

... for your own capacities to judge and take action,
for your own creativity

... for a positive future interaction with nature

... for a world-wide brother- and sisterhood
under increasing globalisation

zur bildung der erde
sind wir berufen

novalis

Living and working together fosters understanding for other people and different cultures and helps to strengthen flexibility and build social skills.

Working on the following skills – intellectual, artistic, social and practiced – in a ballanced way, supports a healthy development of the whole personality, rather than specializing prematurely. A learning field is created in the meeting between older and younger adults in which each person can develop individually and train versatility that will bear fruit for all fields of future life, studies and profession.

Thus, the basis is prepared for a mature choice of profession.

In this safe and trusting atmosphere everyone has the chance to find humour and gain new courage, meet themselves in a new way, make mistakes, discover their own potential, and travel the stimulating journey towards realising such ideals as self-initiative, team-capacity, creativity and responsibility in general.

Do you wish to work creatively and co-operatively on the challenges of the 21st Century?

The Youth Seminar in Stuttgart is like a "global-village" offering young people a creative space to work together with their peers (19-28 years old) from all over the world on life- and professional questions.

Courses with educators, medical doctors, entrepreneurs, artists, social- and natural scientists and humanitarian etc. can awaken a wide spectrum of interest and the sense of interdisciplinary connectivity. They offer a comprehensive view of the human, an understanding of history, the tasks of today and the future, and the living connections in nature. At the same time the participants learn of, and are encouraged to discuss, the holistic approach of Rudolf Steiner's Anthroposophy.

Through independent projects, presentations, discussion and working groups a schooling, both in content and method of dealing with new themes is achieved: a good preparation for either university or future training.

A variety of artistic activities such as speech training and acting, eurhythmy, singing, playing music, clay modelling, painting, and Bothmer gymnastics help to develop independent practise and aim to deepen ones capacity to experience and strengthen self-expression. A creative ability can grow from this that can bring new impulses into all areas of ones life. Young people from widely differing countries such as Japan, Brazil, Canada, South Africa, Russia, and Europe come to the Youth Seminar.

Course of Studies

The course lasts a year and is divided into three terms. It is possible to join in at the beginning of any of the terms (i.a. in January, after Easter or in September). We offer practical insights into various professional fields and are in contact with many interesting German and international partners in both the training and the working world. For example: Götz Werner (promoter/initiator of the large dm chain drugstore), Ibrahim Abuleish (development aid – Sekemfarm, Egypt), Rainer Patzlaff (research into early childhood). Through these contacts, possibilities may arise for doing an internship during the trimester breaks or after the seminar, giving you the opportunity to get insight into various professions. After completing three terms of the ground course, a fourth can be added to deepen the studies or undertake individual projects. Individual counselling allow for personal questions about ones own development including concrete vocational advice. The course at the Independent Youth Seminar in Stuttgart is recommended as a preparatory study by many institutions and places of training – especially those who are working on an anthroposophical basis. After completion of the course you will receive a certificate attesting to the key qualifications which have been attained.

Accommodation, Meals, Fees

All students live in single or double rooms in the Seminar house, situated in a quiet area near to the town centre. They look after the house and garden together. The fees are € 2080 per term. These include seminar fees, accommodation, plus breakfast and lunch from Monday to Friday. For the two field trips to France, € 280 extra per trip is required. We are happy to advise about the possibilities of financing the course. If required interest free loans are possible, after the second term depending on the availability of funds.

Admission requirements

The Minimum age is 19 years old. No specific school exams are necessary, it is your own motivation which plays the deciding role. The course will be held in German, so a good working knowledge of the language is essential. We advise a hospitation of one or two days after which a personal admission interview can be requested. Please include two coloured photos and a hand-written biographical sketch with your application, including your personal questions about life and any special career or artistic interests.